Bank Employees Honored At Farewell Party

LAC LA BICHE—A large crowd attended the farewell party held in honor of H. McCaskill, and J. Kimm, last Friday night. Mr. McCaskill and Mr. Kimm, both employees of the Imperial Bank, will be leaving in the near future to take up positions elsewhere. Some 250 people contributed towards the farewell gifts, a chest of silver for each, which were presented by Dr. A. Brinsmead.

The committee consisting of Dr. A. Brinsmead, Dr. W. Cadzow, J. Williams, Wm. Salahub and F. Scott arranged a nice evening of singing, dancing and refreshments and an enjoyable time was had by all.

Marjorie Andrews Bride Of R. Bourget

TOAD RIVER LODGE—Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bourget journeyed to attend the wedding of their son, Raymond to Marjorie Andrews, at Toad River Lodge, Mile 422, Alaska Highway.

The bride attired in a teal blue suit with navy accessories, was given in marriage by her father, and attended by Mrs. Welch as matron of honor. The groom was attended by Tod Southwick, with Father A. Debusschere performing the ceremony.

A reception at the Lodge followed the ceremony, with about fifty guests attending. The bride's table beautifully decorated and laid with a lace cloth was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. D. W. Callison and Mrs. E. O. Callison presided at the tea urns. Father A. Debusschere proposed the toast to which the groom responded.

For the occasion Mrs. Andrews selected a brown suit with green accessories and a corsage of yellow roses, while the groom's mother wore a navy blue dress, navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the reception a dance was held after which the happy couple left for a honeymoon to be spent at Muncho Lake, B.C.

Veterans Parade In Ceremonies

LAC LA BICHE—At 10:30 a.m. the veterans gathered at the Memorial hall, from where they paraded to the cenotaph for the ceremonies. The parade was led by the Naval Division, consisting of the local Sea Cadet Corp. followed by Rev. Lt. McGrane, representing the Navy, Cpl. R. Rizzoli, Army, and F/O J. Kimm, RCAF, who carried the wreaths for laying at the Cenotaph, and a parade of veterans, under the command of Sgt. J. Williams.

At the Cenotaph a guard of honor comprising the Sea Cadets was formed, the wreaths were laid by the respective services and the volley was fired, followed by the Last Post and Reveille.

From there the parade moved on to the Anglican and Roman Catholic Churches for short services. At the conclusion of the services the veterans gathered at the Canadian Legion Cottage to partake of a turkey dinner and all the trimmings.

During the dinner Rev. McGrane gave a short address, during which he thanked all the ladies who so kindly gave of their time in preparing the dinner, and proposed a toast to Her Majesty the Queen.

In the evening there was a social gathering at the cottage followed by a highly successful dance at the Memorial Hall.

Prizes were offered for the best Sadie Hawkins costumes, but there were no special costumes so the prizes were saved for the next time.

All the students seemed to have a very good time, except for one little thing. Seems they were ravenously hungry and for some reason or other Rose decided to put them on short rations. They're hoping that the next time Rose will buy twice as many refreshments, so they could have their fill.

No target has yet been set for the campaign.

New Cancer Treatment Centre Opened At University Hospital

EDMONTON (BUP) — The keys to Alberta's first radio-isotope laboratory housed in two rooms of the University of Alberta hospital, were presented to James Walker, University hospital board chairman, at Saturday's official opening ceremonies.

Designed to use the radioactive atoms of iodine, phosphorus, cobalt, iron and gold, the operations of the new facilities will begin on a small scale and will increase as the staff gains more knowledge through practice.

At the opening ceremonies, Dr. G. B. Scott, associate professor of physics at the University of Alberta and a member of the laboratory's administrative committee, outlined the significance of the new establishment. A tour of the lab. followed.

The lab. equipment was purchased with a $9,000 loan from the Alberta Division of the Canadian Cancer Society, and the training of staff members was completed through Federal and Provincial Health Department grants.

One of the lab. rooms is used for receiving and preparing the isotopes; the other for diagnosis and treatment of patients. The elements used are not radioactive by nature and their radio-isotopes are produced artificially. Radio-iodine is used in the treatment of many types of thyroid cancer radioactive phosphorus finds wide use in treating leukemia, while radioactive gold is used to relieve the misery of persons with large amounts of fluid gathered in the abdomen and chest.

Urges Increased Dairy Advertising
 TORONTO—Increased advertising combined with more efficient promotion and packaging is the key answer to Canada's surplus of dairy products, K. E. Gordon, director of sales co-ordination for the Borden Co. Ltd., Toronto, said here.
 Speaking before the three-day annual conference of Packaging Association of Canada, Mr. Gordon stated that the "dairy industry in Canada must recognize that new methods and merchandising are continually in prospect on the horizon, and it is the prime responsibility of everyone concerned to keep fully informed of the trends that are developing in Canada's most essential food industry. We are faced with a serious surplus of dairy products and it is evident that we must find a sound solution to increase demand."
 "To increase per capita consumption of dairy products we must apply the proven techniques of sound merchandising and this calls for stepped-up advertising campaigns, improved packaging for point-of-sale appeal and the development of new end products," he said.

Farm Grain Loans Unlikely

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Canada's minister of trade and commerce, has indicated that he does not favor federal loans on farm-stored grain. But he says that the final decision on whether or not such loans will be made rests with parliament. Addressing the annual meeting of Manitoba Pool Elevators earlier this week, Mr. Howe recalled that two years ago when much of the prairie wheat crop was under snow and farmers could not deliver their grain provision was made to make loans up to $20 million. At that time farmers borrowed only $625,000. Mr. Howe mentioned the recently announced distribution of $100 million in Wheat Board payments and said that nothing the government could have done to ease the financial position of prairie farmers, could possibly compare with this early distribution of payments on the 1952 crop.

On Installment Plan

According to the New York Daily News, investors will soon be able to buy stocks in any of the major industrial companies on time payments. The system, which has been worked out by the New York Stock Exchange is expected to start October 1.

The details are a bit complicated. But the procedure for the customer would be simple. He would agree with a broker to buy so many shares of such-and-such a stock on the installment plan, in a period of anywhere from one to five years. The payments would be around $40 or $50 a month, or multiples of those amounts.

The money would be paid into any bank handling such purchases. Ownership of the stock would start with the first payment—meaning you would own whatever fraction of a share that payment covered—and would build up with each successive payment until you owned the entire block contracted for. Collection of dividends would be on the same basis.

This sounds like an excellent way for the small investor, wage earner and farmer to get a share in the capital holdings of the big industries. After all—nearly everything else can be bought on the installment plan—why not stocks?

On Goose Employees

The Board of Supervisors of Norfolk County, Virginia, is involved in a hassle over some African geese. It seems that the board pays farmers for poultry killed by stray dogs and when a bill for $301 was presented recently, one of the supervisors raised the question whether the African geese, which had been killed, were to be classed as poultry (for which repayment is provided) or goose employees.

The goose-employee argument, as presented by one board member, stems from the assertion that the geese in question were "employees" of a farm. He says state law requires the country to pay citizens for loss of poultry killed by stray dogs but that since the geese were employees, the owner of the missing geese should recover the loss through the Workman's Compensation Act.

It seems that the African goose plucks grass but will not touch shrubbery and this was quoted as the reason for the importation of the geese on the Norfolk County farm. In other words, the birds were employed as grass cutters. Even admitting the birds to be grass cutters, it is hard to imagine one trying to recover his geese loss through the Workman's Compensation Act. We can also understand the Board member's contention that the geese were actually grass cutters, and not poultry, in the usual sense.

This is one time when the question at hand completely stumps us. Not being an expert on the goose, especially the African goose, we are perplexed in commenting on the dilemma and wonder if anyone has thought of asking the remaining geese for their opinion.

A negro preacher began his sermon by saying: "Brethren and sisters, here you is comin' to pray for rain. I'd like to ask you just one question—where is yo' umbrellas?"

By T. W. PUE

Many of us middle-aged folks remember the remarkable radio exploits of one, Baron Munchausen, who during the depression years regaled us with his charming ability to fabricate the most fantastic stories. Undoubtedly he was the most famous liar of all times, but his prefabrications were all made up and told in a spirit of hilarious fun.

I don't recall his name in private life but he carried on that way, Sunday after Sunday, to sell some product or other which sponsored his program. When the program was at its height about 20 years ago, the famous query "Vos you dere, Sharlie?" was on everybody's lips. No social or casual meeting was complete without some reference to Baron Munchausen.

T. W. Pue

Charlie was the stooge who had to listen to the Baron's fantastic tales. Whenever the comedian's story got to a part where even Charlie couldn't keep quiet any longer, he would expostulate "But Baron, that's fantastic, how could that be, you couldn't do a thing like that, etc., etc." The Baron could, however, always answer such expressions of disbelief by asking "Vos you dere, Sharlie?" Poor Charlie had to admit that he was somewhere else while the Baron was going through all these extraordinary experiences.

Feigning disappointment because Charlie doubted his tale, the Baron, amid a barrel of studio audience laughter, would then go out to even greater heights of fantasy.

NEW BARON MUNCHAUSEN

A new team has been at work in recent months, and if they ever decide to go on the radio, they should make a hit that will put the original Baron Munchausen to shame. George DuPre, a veteran of the RCAF and recent employee of the Alberta Government has since the end of the war been going around telling individuals, groups and club meetings of his remarkable experiences during the late war as a spy in the British Secret Service.

George, the new Baron Munchausen, told his story to the new Charlie, in the person of Quentin Reynolds, famous war correspondent. But Mr. Reynolds, apparently, didn't question the truth of George's story and has published an article in Reader's Digest and written a 50,000-word book. Reynolds, until last Friday, called it the "Greatest Spy Story ever written." An alert newspaper reporter in Calgary did some close checking and dug up a few facts to prove that George DuPre was the biggest hoaxer of all time. George has admitted it now and his wife says she knew as far back as 1946 that what George was going around telling service clubs wasn't true.

Robert Christiem in the Calgary Albertan, says he phoned Mr. Reynolds and in the conversation from his home in Bedford Village, N.Y., the noted correspondent and author of "The Canadian Who Wouldn't Talk," in the November issue of The Reader's Digest, said he was "appalled" by George DuPre's admission that his story was a fabrication. "I'm shocked and appalled," Reynolds told me. "What can you say in the face of a situation like this? Most of all I'm worried about my friend's health. I liked him 100 per cent. I called him today and he wasn't able to speak."

Apparently, "The man who wouldn't talk" is keeping to his description now because reporters can't get him to say a word since he admitted his stories of tortures and mistreatment at the hands of Germans in the last war are false.

When he regains his speech I suggest that he and Quent Reynolds get together again. Not as actual writers of history, this time, but as novelists. While Quentin listens quietly with note book in hand, George DuPre should be able to go on further flights of fantasy and dream up new and original material for the "Great Canadian Novel" which has yet, hasn't been written.

Meanwhile, I suggest that Mr. Reynolds' latest book will be the best-seller of the year. I wouldn't be surprised to see it become a movie and go down as the greatest novel to come out of the late war.

M.D. Has Young Councillors

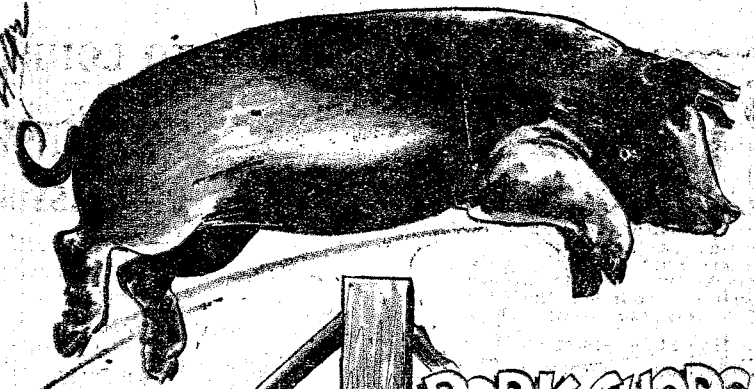

Secretary-Treasurer of the Municipal District of Morinville is wondering these days if his council hasn't got something or other of a record for youthfulness in the council.

Total age of five councillors and himself makes 255 years. Divided by the number six this makes an average age for each member of only 42 years.

Emmanuel Racine holds the honour for being the youngest councillor—just 28 years old. There is one other in his thirties and three in their forties.

Any other M.D. care to present a more youthful record?

TARIFFS AND AGRICULTURE

Canada has an unusually large unsold surplus of wheat and, incidentally, surpluses of some other products. For agriculture to be prosperous our surpluses must be freely purchased by people abroad. For our farmers to receive payment for their wheat and other products, other people must pay us for them, which means that these other people therefore must get hold of some Canadian dollars, for our farmers cannot pay their taxes and bills with foreign money. In short, to export our own products and to be paid for them we must first import goods from other countries, for only by these imports, which at the same time are other countries' exports, can foreign people get hold of sufficient dollars with which to buy our wheat and other products.

Our comparatively high tariffs prevent British and foreign people from buying our wheat, flour and other products in the quantities which we would like them to do. It seems then that our present tariff structure is today one of the greatest deterrents against the importation of foreign goods and is therefore one of the greatest deterrents against the export of our grains. To have a healthy and prosperous agriculture, then, Canada must substantially lower her tariffs against British and foreign goods.

LETTER TO LOUISA

Husbands Expect Wives To Work Out But Won't Assist At Household Tasks

Dear Louisa:

What do you think of men who won't help their wives?

We are three of those unfortunate women who work to help eek out an existence. We put in two or three hours of work at home and then eight more at our respective jobs and come home and put in another four or five hours getting meals ready for the next day and our men sit around and take it easy.

We think that if a woman is willing to go out to work a man should help a little in the house or at least try to keep it tidy once it is made so—by putting his things away and tracking in a little less dirt.

Our men seem to think it is their right to relax and we are supposed to be a lifetime guaranteed machine that won't wear out. Frankly, that's what is happening to us. Can't you give a little advice to men about how lucky they are to be blessed with a wife like each of ours has?

We will be pleased to accept your opinion, and thank you very much for your trouble.

FAITH, HOPE AND CHARITY,
South Edmonton.

Answer:

Any wife who works out to increase the family income is entitled to expect her husband to go 50-50 with her on the housework. But any such ideal isn't likely to work out unless a practical division of the work is arranged beforehand.

If your husband agrees to prepare the meals while you are making the beds and doing the daily sweeping and dusting, then you can assist him with the dishes. Perhaps he will do the weekly wash while you are out on the weekly shopping tour.

It's a cinch, though, that you won't get to first base unless you both agree on what phase of the work each is to do. Then it is up to each to do his or her particular job.

You'll be surprised how little time it takes to do the work in a small two or three room suite when both co-operate.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I am a woman 48 years old and have been married several years but it has never been a happy marriage.

My husband never goes any place with me and my friends. If we were going to the same place, he would go with his family and I could get there anyway I could. He has always put his relatives before me.

I finally got tired of this and decided to run away, which I did, but then I found I had made a terrible mistake. Then circumstances forced me to return and he only took me back to make it look like it was all my fault.

He has never stopped throwing things up to me. There have been periods of 12 months at a time when he hasn't spoken to me. We haven't lived together as husband and wife since I came back. He never eats at home.

Since I came back, he has not supported me. I work out and my work takes me from home three or four months at a time. When I do take a week or two off, he comes home only long enough to sleep or change his clothes.

Two years ago he told me to get out but when he heard I had rented a place, he asked me to give it up.

I do not want anything from him as I have a good job. I get so lonely and blue and I know we will never be happy together again.

Is it right to go on living this way? Are we too old to start a new life? He is in his early fifties. I have some very good friends, which is really all I have to live for.

UNHAPPY AND LONESOME.

Answer:

I cannot see where you have anything to lose by leaving such an unhappy home. If you are able to support yourself, there is no point in spending your days in such an atmosphere of tension and contempt.

Of course, I do not know what you did in the past that caused your husband to treat you so badly. Certainly, if he neglected you for his family before you left him, he was most unfair and inconsiderate of you.

Perhaps, you ran off with another man and, if you did, it was a disgraceful thing to do. But if he took you back into his home, he should let bygones be bygones and try to bury the past.

If he is not big enough to do this, I see no point in your staying in his house and continuing to suffer throughout the coming years. Get a place of your own and try

Girl 18, Boy 19 Die In Garage

CAMROSE (BUP) — A grief-stricken father discovered his 17-year-old daughter and her boy friend dead in the family car when he opened his garage at his home here early Monday.

RCMP identified the victims as June Grahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Grahn, and Charles, 19, son of Mr. M. McManamen, all of Camrose.

Police said the young couple died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Grahn told police his daughter and McManamen had left the house to go for a walk Sunday night and apparently stepped into the family car, which was parked in the garage.

The car was found with the heater and ignition on and its doors were shut. There was a strong odor of gas in the garage.

Grahn made the discovery when he went to get the car to report his daughter's disappearance to police.

Dr. C. H. Smith, district coroner, released both bodies for burial and said there would be no inquest.

Camrose is about 45 miles south-east of Edmonton.

Weds In Attractive Candlelight Ceremony

CRAIGEND — Pink and white carnations in tall standards reflected in the glow of soft candlelight formed an attractive setting in the Ukrainian Orthodox Church at Craigend on Thursday, October 29, for the wedding of Miss Loveth Bakay and John Beniuk.

Rev. Zubritsky performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Bakay, of Venice, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Beniuk, of Craigend.

For the nuptials the bride chose a strapless white nylon net over satin topped with an imported French lace tunic, fashioned with a crisp Queen Ann Collar, and high-point sleeves. A sweetheart coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones held her three-quarter length veil in place. As her jewelry she wore a pearl pendant with matching earrings, a gift of the groom. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of red and white roses intermingled with fern.

Miss Helen Beniuk attended the bride as the maid of honor, and the Misses Olga Bakay, Olga Osadchuk, Vicky Warawa and Vicky Bereska acted as bridesmaids, wearing turquoise, milk green, maize and powder blue net over taffeta, respectively. Each bridesmaid wore a matching cap and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

The groom was attended by Dan Beniuk as best man and Alberta Happner, Alex Kowalechuk, John Wolk and Ernest Lachowich were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bakay wore a gray suit, complemented with matching accessories and a corsage of salmon gardenias.

A reception for about two hundred guests was held at the home of the bride's parents where the bride's table was centered with a five-tiered wedding cake flanked with bouquets of pink and white carnations.

4-H Girls' Club And What They Mean

Four-H Club work for rural boys and girls is a very important part of the extension program of the Department of Agriculture. A large part of the Home Economist's work is spent in organizing and supervising Girls' Clubs. These clubs are for girls between the ages of 12 and 21 years. There must be a minimum of eight members and a local leader, in order to have such an organization. The girls may choose from Clothing projects, consisting of a Good Grooming Course, First and Second Year Sewing; Home Decoration Course; Etiquette; a Foods Project dealing with meal planning and cooking; and in the summer, Gardening projects. The girls meet regularly, usually every two weeks. At the business meeting, they give demonstrations, receive instruction from their leader, and end their meeting with some social activity. What are the aims of these clubs? They serve to teach the girls, as potential homemakers, practices which can be applied in the home; to teach girls to live, work, and play together; and to develop the community leaders of the future. The Four-H Clubs are sponsored by the Department of Agriculture. All Garden Clubs are jointly sponsored by the Alberta Wheat Pool and the Department of Agriculture.

At the end of the club year, an Achievement Day is held by each club at which the girls display all completed projects. This work is judged and an Efficiency Winner is chosen, based on her project work and also on her general club activities. This girl may attend the Club Week held at one of the Schools of Agriculture. Here, instruction is given in sewing, handicrafts, etc. It is a wonderful opportunity for any girl to attend Club Week. At the end of the week, exams are written and four $75.00 scholarships are awarded, which are used towards a winter session at one of the schools of Agriculture.

At this time, there are Four-H Clubs in operation at Amber Valley, Lac La Biche, Perryvale, Clyde, Hazel Bluff, Dapp, Picardville and Manola, in the Westlock District. If there are any other centres interested in the formation of a Four-H Club, please write to:

Miss Joyce McCutcheon,

Armistice Parade Was Memorable Occasion

ATHABASCA — The Armistice parade was well attended by the people of Athabasca and districts. The parade was headed by representatives of the armed forces, followed by the Air Cadets, the girls Cadets, the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion and last but not least the Wolf Cubs. As the parade stood before the cenotaph, Rev. East said a prayer and Archdeacon Humphreys read a passage from the Bible.

Following the Last Post sounded by Gordon Atkinson two minutes silence was observed. Rev. East then said another prayer and announced that a speech would be given in the Legion Hall, after the Cenotaph Service.

The official wreaths were laid by the representatives of the Legion, the government, the town, Colinton Legion, Colinton Ladies' Auxiliary, Provincial government, Athabasca Ladies' Auxiliary, the Wolf Cubs and Mrs. Taylor. Mr. East spoke on the meaning of the word remembrance. Following the speech, the people were served with a very good lunch of sandwiches, cakes and coffee, which was provided and served by the Ladies' Auxiliary. In the evening a very successful dance was held and again the Ladies' Auxiliary served lunch.

Lovely Fall Wedding Solemnized Recently

LAC LA BICHE—On Thursday, November 12, the United Church

at Lac La Biche, was the scene of a lovely wedding, when Miss Winnie Bouchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Bouchard, Craigend, became the bride of Albert Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jones. The altar was banked with numerous flowers, reflected by soft candlelight. Mrs. T. Lett supplied the wedding music. For the occasion the bride selected a gown of white nylon and net, a three-quarter length veil held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of red roses and her only jewelry was a necklace of pearls.

Rev. D. A. Greenough officiated at the ceremony, in which the bride was given away by her father. She was attended by Miss Emily Balaban as maid of honor, and Miss Annie Michaelcheon as bridesmaid. For the occasion Miss Balaban wore a gown of yellow and carried a bouquet of pink roses, while Miss Michaelcheon wore a blue gown and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers. Both girls wore identical flower wreaths and chapel veils.

The groom was attended by Peter Bouchard as the best man year, and E. Schirrmacher as the attendant.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at Craigend, with numerous guests attending. Mrs. Bouchard, dressed in a dark blue dress, with matching accessories greeted the guests assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a wine colored dress. The bride's table was centered by a four-tiered wedding cake, banked with flowers.

Following the reception a dance was held at the Memorial Hall at Lac La Biche.

For the present time the happy couple have taken up residence in Lac La Biche.

Public Arena Meeting Held In Hall

FALHER — Wednesday, Nov. 5, 1953, in the municipal hall, a meeting in the presence of the arena committee was held to discuss important topics pertaining to the immediate task of completing final arrangements for the arena's latest requirements.

Mr. C. A. Moulun electrician, presented an estimate of the price for material for wiring the arena. It was decided that Mr. Moulun would go to Edmonton to procure the material needed in order to waste no time. Mr. Moulun left early Sunday morning to get the equipment.

An increase to $60,000 of insurance for the arena will be looked after as soon as possible.

After studying the McLennan arrangement of the Arena with its hockey team, it was found that the arena made very little money at a 60-40 per cent basis. It was decided, then, unanimously that the percentage for hockey games would be 25 per cent for the hockey team and 75 per cent for the arena, in order to make enough money.

An estimate of expenses was presented for payment, which will be cared for immediately.

Canadian Women Minimize Inflation

VEGREVILLE—Reviewing some of the accomplishments of the Canadian Association of Consumers, Mrs. W. E. Stewart, Provincial President, gave a most interesting talk at a recent meeting of the Major Fans Chapter I.O.D.E.

With a membership of 600,000 and a hoped for strength of a million and a half, the potential influence of the C.A.C. can be realized, said Mrs. Stewart, who referred to a statement in the parliamentary publication "Hansard" to the effect that through C.A.C. women of Canada inflation has been minimized, also quoted the "Financial Post" as stating that the wise buying of women in Canada had assisted in raising the standard of living. Continuing, Mrs. Stewart said the C.A.C. had reached the conclusion that overall price control does not seem to be the right answer for curing inflation; it merely conceals the causes for a time; deals only with system-high prices.

Outlining a few of the achievements currently aimed at, the speaker mentioned: Standardizing women's and children's clothing; labelling for proper washing and cleaning; pre-shrinkage to be noted on garments; new spice containers; soap weight markings; bread and flour regulations; stocking length shown on stockings; packaging goods with weight and prices shown.

Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Stewart for her attendance. Anyone interested in receiving bulletins of C.A.C. activities are invited to contact Mrs. A. H. Stafford who is the IODE group representative.

Careless Duck Hunter Starts Swamp Fire

BIRDSVIEW — A prairie fire sprang up beside a slough south of the L. Houcher buildings one evening recently. Fortunately Joe Houcher and Mrs. Houcher were working on a granary at the time and saw the fire before it had time to spread completely beyond control. Neighbors along phone line No. 3 were soon on hand to help, and it was prevented from reaching a strawpile and full granary. Brush roots were soaked and an all-night vigil was kept to avoid any fresh outbreak.

Guide Survives Fight With Bear

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C.—A veteran British Columbia big game guide survived a hand-to-claw battle with a giant grizzly bear, but only because his opponent was overweight. Leash Callison told his story here after being treated in hospital at Dawson Creek, B.C., for more than 20 wounds inflicted by the grizzly's teeth.

He said he was spying out game for a group of millionaire sportsmen from the United States when he encountered a female grizzly and one cub, far from his base camp.

Unarmed, the guide attempted to frighten the bear by shouting. The animal continued to advance and he hit it with a rock.

Callison and the bear slid down the steep side of the mountain, with the cub following behind. The grizzly could not get footing, but chewed Callison's hand and bit him on the legs.

Finally the combatants tumbled over a cliff and landed together. The fall winded the grizzly and she gave up the fight.

"That bear carried too much lard," Callison said. "If she had been on a diet, I wouldn't be here to tell the story."

Lad Suffers From Gunshot Wounds

Colonel W. T. Cromb, of Edmonton, amid a background of sacred music played by the RCAF band.

All veterans and groups participating assembled at the Legion Club rooms at 10:20 a.m. Marched by John Koshuta they paraded to the cenotaph to arrive promptly in advance of "The Last Post" and two minutes silence before 11:00 o'clock.

Following "Reveille" there was a wreath laying ceremony by individuals and group representatives. Parade again formed and marched to the Capitol theatre for the remainder of the service which commenced at 11:30. The guest speaker was J. Harper, Provost, M.L.A., a veteran of the second great war.

GUN RACK PATTERN

(No. 134)

Good guns deserve good care and unless you have the proper racks or cabinet, rifles soon become marred and scratched from mishandling. Stand a rifle up in the corner of a room and it will soon become the victim of misuse.

The gun rack can be made either as a floor rack or be made to hang from the wall. The full size pattern simplifies making either one. Each component part of the rack is reproduced on a full size paper pattern. By tracing each part on the wood pattern species, even the most unskilled person can turn out a professional looking piece.

While the large rack will accommodate up to five guns, the pattern also tells how to build racks to hold one rifle. These are also easy to make and permit displaying guns in a very decorative manner.

Send 75c in coin or money order (cheques not acceptable) for Gun Rack Pattern No. 134 to Carpentry Dept., P.O. Box 4430, South Edmonton.

4-Car Crash Hurts 2 On Snow Slippery Hill

EDMONTON (B.P.)—Two persons were injured in a four-car pile-up on Edmonton's Scona Hill at 7:30 p.m. last week.

No further details were available, but police say the accident is blamed on the slippery road conditions arising from the heavy fall of snow.

Alberta Cattle To Get Tests

EDMONTON — Plans for testing all Alberta cattle for tuberculosis were announced Thursday by Agriculture Minister Ure following word from the federal department of agriculture setting all of Alberta as a TB restricted area.

Testing of cattle and establishment of restricted areas on a municipality basis was started in 1939 and since that time the province has spent more than $50,000, Mr. Ure said. A total of 200,000 head were tested in 1951 and 1952. Municipal and local improvement districts will not be declared official restricted areas until testing starts by officials of the federal health of animals division.

Testing to date in 32 municipalities has shown the lowest incidence of infection in Canada. About 16 "reactors" for every 10,000 head inspected were reported.

MUNICIPALITIES STRESS NEED FOR MORE GOVERNMENT AID

LETHBRIDGE—Keynote struck at the 29th annual convention of the Union of Alberta Municipalities, held in Lethbridge on October 22nd and 23rd, was the expansion and growth of Urban centres and their urgent need for financial assistance from the provincial government in order to help them bear the burden of educational and health and welfare levies in particular.

The convention passed a total of 21 resolutions, most of which dealt with the problem of municipal finance. Chief among these was one which put the union on record as emphatically stating that the costs of education must be reviewed immediately with a view to granting considerably increased assistance for 1954. Another asked the provincial government to pass the necessary legislation to authorize the early appointment of a municipal advisory board, whose duties it would be to conduct an enquiry into any matter referred to it by the minister, and whose powers would include municipal research, analyzing proposals of grants, enquiring into the subject of municipal, provincial, federal relations and generally striving to maintain and strengthen the principles of local self-government.

During a panel discussion on education participated in by Mayor Don Mackay, of Calgary, Education Minister A. O. Aalborg, and Lethbridge school trustee G. C. Paterson, Q.C., Mr. Mackay told the delegates that costs of health and social welfare and of education are 'developing an overpowering effect on the local taxation structure.' He said that although Canadians are spending four times as much on education as they did 21 years ago, 'this tremendous increase in cost is being carried by property and municipalities to a very fair degree.' He felt a potential target of a 25 percent contribution by the province to the costs of education should be set. Mr. Aalborg outlined the assistance to education during the past five years and said he felt it had made 'a pretty good effort'. Mr. Paterson urged provision for education beyond grade 12 in high schools, possibly in the form of junior colleges.

Hon. C. E. Gerhart, Minister of Municipal Affairs, addressed the delegates on Friday morning. He opposed percentage grants from the provincial government on the grounds that it would raise the cost of civic government since 'The municipalities tend to spend more to get more from the provincial government under the percentage scheme.' He contended that earmarking provincial grants for special purposes was a poor principle and said 'You never know what your schools are costing until all your grants are municipal grants.' In reply to Mr. Mackay's goal of 25% for education from the province, he stated provincial grants of all kinds to cities averaged about 25% of the total levy. He listed outright grants made to Calgary by the government, but Mayor Mackay, when he spoke later in the day on the education resolution said that if Mr. Gerhart had matched the grants against the cities current and capital accounts combined 'that 25% mark of his would fall fast.' He said Mr. Gerhart had given a false picture to the delegates. The municipal affairs minister said all municipalities are better off now than they have been in the past, and that none is in bad shape.

Chairman throughout the convention was L. S. Turcotte, Lethbridge lawyer and president of the Union. Mayor Mackay of Calgary was elected president for the next year and will preside at the 50th annual convention which will be held in Calgary in the fall of 1954.

Other speakers included D. E. Mansur, Ottawa, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation; H. N. Lash, director of town and rural planning for the province and Leonard Gertler, director of the Edmonton district planning commission.

Friday's afternoon session on resolutions became somewhat heated when Ald. Starr of Calgary called for more time for discussion and not so many speakers. He contended that the ministers who attend the convention should be questioned by delegates and said Mr. Gerhart had 'honied up' his speech. Mayor A. Shackelford of Lethbridge, agreed and said 'the ministers gave us a lovely picture twisted around." Wm. Switzer of Edson urged that it be stressed to the provincial government that the B.N.A. Act placed the responsibility for education squarely on their shoulders and that this responsibility having been delegated to the municipalities, the government should pay more money to meet the costs. Ald. Fred Parker, Calgary, said he was disappointed with the minister of education. 'I think they will do more for the school situation in the province, but the situation has reached such a point that if they don't the school system will go down.'

SONGS OF MY PEOPLE

BASSO JAN RUBES sings a European folk song while conductor Ivan Romanoff listens carefully, during a rehearsal of the CEC Friday night show "Songs Of My People." The famous traditional music of the peoples of Europe is presented on the program, as well as the occasional folk tune from the Caribbean and Latin America. Rubes is featured not only as a vocalist, but he introduces the numbers as well. Besides the orchestra, he is assisted by a chorus and a guest star every week.

Veteran Newspaperman Dies

EDMONTON (BUP) — Don McCannel, 56-year-old night news editor for Edmonton Radio Station CFRN, died after suffering a stroke early Wednesday while at work.

McCannel, a veteran newspaperman whose career includes service with Calgary Herald, Calgary Farm and Ranch Review and the Edmonton Journal, died Wednesday noon in Edmonton's University Hospital. A graduate in agriculture from the University of Alberta, McCannel was attached to the Government Information Service at Ottawa during the last world war. He is survived by his wife, Kathleen, one brother and three sisters. Funeral was held Saturday.

Traffic Claims 33 Lives In October

EDMONTON (BUP) — The Alberta Safety Council said that 33 persons were killed in traffic accidents in the province in October.

Thirty of the fatalities occurred in rural areas.

The figures compared with 22 fatal accidents in October of last year of which only 12 occurred in rural areas.

The Safety Council said that the October total was the highest of any month so far this year.

The month's figures brought to 169 the number of fatalities on Alberta highways in the first 10 months of this year.

Fishing Next Month On District Lakes

EDMONTON (BUP) — Winter commercial fishing will open in the Edmonton district December 8 at Lake Wabamun and December 10 at Pigeon Lake, according to an announcement by the Provincial Fish and Game Branch.

Regulations set opening dates at December 1 in Northern Alberta and December 16 in Central and Southern Alberta, with some exceptions such as Lakes Wabamun and Pigeon.

Three Youths Get Sentences Sunday Now In Juvenile Bldg

EDMONTON (BUP) — Three of 23 youths charged following a pitched battle between teen-age gangs in Edmonton's north end were each given a one-year suspended sentence after the other 20 pleaded innocent of the charges.

The trio, James Mitchell, George Hurman and Albert Yule, pleaded guilty to taking part in an affray and had their sentences suspended but received a strong lecture from Police Magistrate Hudson.

Police said they were members of three gangs which waged a pitched battle (at 106 Street and 122 Avenue) October 25, which involved 50 youths with weapons such as sticks, bottles and metal pipes.

Two youths were seriously injured in the affray. Crown Prosecutor Guy Beaudry called it a "pitched battle" between the Avenue, Boyle Street and McCauley Street gangs.

A total of 32 charges, including taking part in an affray, wilful damage, assault causing actual bodily harm, and wounding were laid against the youths.

Several of them pleaded guilty to the charges, but when represented by counsel today changed their pleas to innocent and were remanded for future hearings by two magistrates.

Crown Prosecutor Beaudry said the battle started when youths in two parked cars were suddenly attacked by other teen-agers arriving by autos.

Speeding Teen-Agers Fined; Lose Licences

EDMONTON — James Bateman and Thomas Megee, both teen-agers, were fined $40 and costs and their drivers' licences suspended for six months when they pleaded guilty in police court Thursday to charges of dangerous driving. The two were arrested after they were clocked by police cars at 70 miles an hour.

New Treatment Helps Calves To Survive

CHICAGO — A discovery by veterinary scientists to help control one of the most serious disease threats to new-born calves is reported in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association.

The report said that a combination of dried cattle serum, vitamin K and pre-digested milk solids has proved effective in controlling scours, which kills many new born calves.

The serum provides a high concentration of gamma globulin, which helps prevent infection, the report said. Vitamin K fortifies the new-born calf against hemorrhage, and the milk solids provide early nourishment.

POET'S CORNER

London and L.s.d.

From MRS. C. WARD, Perryvale, Alta.

Returning to the Homeland from a realm across the sea,
I went to dear old London to spend some L.S.D.
Sweet melodies were peeling forth from bells in steeples high;
As they carilloned Home Sweet Home I heaved a happy sigh.

The City of London's delightfully gay,
A real lively place where the rich and poor play;
Plenty of mirth for their money's worth
Is provisioned every day.
Its shops are great, there's allure and bait,
And places to shun if one can't walk straight.
I'll tell the world that London's superb,
But money just melts away.

The dear old haunts I'd visioned oft, I sallied forth to see;
And friends who thought that I'd struck oil, stuck very close to me.
Less money jingled in my jeans but bells in steeples high
Carilloned a familiar strain . . . 'Twas hard to say good-bye.

The City of London's delightfully gay,
A real lively place where the rich and poor play;
Plenty of mirth for their money's worth
Is provisioned every day.
Its shops are great, there's allure and bait,
And places to shun if one can't walk straight.
I'll tell the world that London's superb,
But money just melts away.

Way Now Appears Clear For Construction Of Satellite Town

EDMONTON (EUP)—The Edmonton District Planning Commission has rejected an application that it reconsider its approval of a satellite town to be built along the city's booming "industrial row."

The application from the Town of Beverly, would have forced the commission to reopen discussion on the controversial project and take a second vote.

William Hewlitt, secretary-treasurer, said that the commission could not reopen discussion because the project was approved by a nine-to-six secret ballot, and reconsideration would require a motion by one of the nine who favored the townsites.

"As the vote was taken by secret ballot," Hewlitt said, "it is not known who favored the proposal and therefore a motion for reconsideration cannot be made."

Earlier, Planning Commission Chairman Arthur Soetaert said the commission would not reopen the matter although government authorities can overrule the board if they wish.

Objections were voiced by Edmonton City Council, the town councils of Jasper Place and Beverly, the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, and the Alberta Architect's Association.

The proposed town, promoted by Edmonton home builder John Campbell, would have a population of 10,000 to 20,000 and would contain shopping centres, recreation facilities and business and industrial sites.

Officials of Strathcona Municipality, in which the town would be located, said the town would relieve Edmonton of the burden of providing such facilities for people who work in the industrial area outside the city's limits.

Socreds Planning Caucus Meeting At Edmonton

EDMONTON (EUP)—Social Credit members of the Alberta legislature will meet in caucus with Premier E. C. Manning at the Parliament Buildings on Friday.

Government sources said the 52 members would meet for their annual fall caucus, to discuss legislation to be presented to the session of the House early in the New Year.

There was speculation that three other vital matters would be raised at the caucus—gas export, a provincial by-election, and a new appointment to the cabinet.

Premier Manning is expected to make some disclosure to the MLA's on latest developments in the controversial matter of gas export. The premier met recently with Prime Minister St. Laurent to discuss gas export, and the Alberta oil and gas conservation board is expected to make a report to the cabinet on its recent hearings on applications for export.

An announcement is also expected shortly on the date of a by-election in the Medicine Hat riding, which will probably be held in late January. The by-election was made necessary through the death of Industries and Labor Minister Dr. J. L. Robinson.

A successor to Dr. Robinson may also be named by the premier, government sources believe. The Social Credit caucus will precede by less than a week the annual convention of the party to be held in Calgary.

Refinery Gets Natural Gas Flow

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, Alta. (BUP)—Natural gas began to flow to the $19,000,000 Sherritt-Gordon metals refinery under construction near Fort Saskatchewan, 20 miles northeast of Edmonton today.

Officials from Toronto, New York, Calgary and Edmonton were present as the gas was turned on with a deafening roar from the 11-mile gathering system of Mid-Western Industrial Gas Ltd.

E. L. Brown of Toronto, president of Sherritt-Gordon Mines Ltd., said the plant, which will start production next winter, will refine nickel concentrates from mines at Lynn Lake Manitoba.

Brown will go there next week to open a 144-mile CNR line from Sherridon, Manitoba, to Lynn Lake, enabling ores to be moved from the mines.

Copper concentrates from the mines will go to Noranda, Quebec.

Mid-Western Gas, with a 20-year contract to supply the Fort Saskatchewan refinery, has 11 wells within a few miles of the new plant.

F.U.A. to Press Oil Prices Probe

Provincial Government Rejects FUA Recommendation For Investigation

President Henry Young of the Farmers' Union of Alberta says his organization will continue to press for lower gasoline prices and an investigation into production costs in the oil industry.

Young made the disclosure following the rejection by the provincial cabinet of an FUA request for a full-scale investigation into the cost of oil products.

The farm union executive met with the cabinet and called on the government to set up a fact-finding body for the investigation, and to enforce price controls if petroleum products are not sold at prices based on production costs.

Young said Premier E. C. Manning rejected the requests because the government "considered them impractical."

"Premier Manning does not think the investigation would produce any fruitful results," Young said. "He suggested such an investigation would only produce conflicting views of experts."

The FUA delegation presented a brief which said that despite petroleum developments in Alberta, the people "are not getting the benefit which they should by way of lower prices for oil products within our area."

Recent gasoline price increases set off the demand by the 24,000-member Farm Union for the government investigation.

Pointing out that oil and gas represent major costs to farmers, the brief said "the provincial government is in a very strong position to lay down rules governing the production and marketing of natural resources."

The three-point recommendation of the farm union asked the setting up of the fact-finding body for an investigation of prices in relation to actual production costs, a government policy requiring prices be based on production costs, and government price controls unless prices are voluntarily reduced.

"Premier Manning maintained that price control of any kind was impractical," Young said, "and that gasoline prices were not out of line in Alberta."

The FUA president added that the Premier agreed to compile some facts and figures regarding oil industry prices, and to make them available for the group's annual convention in Edmonton next month.

Young added that some discussion took place on the control of seismograph work on road allowances and it was pointed out that the regulations are not being carried out. The Premier admitted this matter was a "headache," Young said, and intimated that some action is being considered.
